2. citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)

Claims 1-17 lack an inventive step under PCT Article 33(3) as being obvious over Pedersen in view of Kenny et al.

Pedersen discloses a helical shielded twisted pair data cable comprising an insulated twisted pair cable, a composite shielding tape (7) having a non-metal base and layer of metal on one side of the base, the shielding tape being helically wrapped around the pair. Pedersen does not disclose the thickness of the tape, the width of the tape, the degree overlapping, nor the wrapped tension of the tape on the pair. However, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to choose suitable thickness and width along with suitable wrapped tension and overlapped degree for the shielding tape of Pedersen to meet the specific use because it is known that greater overlapped degree and larger wrapped tension on the pair would reduce the void area of the cross-sectional area of the pair.

Kenny et al. discloses a data cable comprising a plurality of twisted pairs wherein each twisted pair is configured to meet the standard impedance deviation of the cable, an impedance of 90 to 110 Ohms, the measurement being taken over a 1000 ft. length at frequency of 10 MHz to 200 MHz. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one ordinary skill in the art to apply the teaching of Kenny et al. in the cable of Pedersen to design the data cable with a specific impedance.

Claims 1-17 met the criteria set out in PCT Article 33(4) because a shielded twisted pair data cable can be made and used in the industry.

The twisted pair is helically wrapped with a metal shield tape (16) at a tension that provides a cross-sectional void of less than 25% and preferably less than 18% of the cross-sectional area of the shielded twisted pair cable. The tape is helically wrapped with an overlap of 30-45% and at an angle of 35-45 degrees with respect to the longitudinal axis of the cable. The cable has a rating up to 600 MHz.

The following examples illustrate the manner in which amendments must be explained in the accompanying letter:

1. [Where originally there were 48 claims and after amendment of some claims there are 51]:
"Claims 1 to 29, 31, 32, 34, 35, 37 to 48 replaced by amended claims bearing the same numbers; claims 30, 33 and 36 unchanged; new claims 49 to 51 added."
2. [Where originally there were 15 claims and after amendment of all claims there are 11]:
"Claims 1 to 15 replaced by amended claims 1 to 11."
3. [Where originally there were 14 claims and the amendments consist in cancelling some claims and in adding new claims]:
"Claims 1 to 6 and 14 unchanged; claims 7 to 13 cancelled; new claims 15, 16 and 17 added." or
"Claims 7 to 13 cancelled; new claims 15, 16 and 17 added; all other claims unchanged."
4. [Where various kinds of amendments are made]:
"Claims 1-10 unchanged; claims 11 to 13, 18 and 19 cancelled; claims 14, 15 and 16 replaced by amended claim 14; claim 17 subdivided into amended claims 15, 16 and 17; new claims 20 and 21 added."

"Statement under Article 19(1)" (Rule 46.4)

The amendments may be accompanied by a statement explaining the amendments and indicating any impact that such amendments might have on the description and the drawings (which cannot be amended under Article 19(1)).

The statement will be published with the international application and the amended claims.

The statement should be brief, it should not exceed 500 words if in English or if translated into English.

It should not be confounded with and does not replace the letter indicating the differences between the claims as filed and as amended. It must be filed on a separate sheet and must be identified as such by a heading, preferably by using the words "Statement under Article 19(1)."

It should not contain any disparaging comments on the international search report or the relevance of citations contained in that report. Reference to citations, relevant to a given claim, contained in the international search report may be made only in connection with an amendment of that claim.

In what language?

The amendments must be made in the language in which the international application is published. The letter and any statement accompanying the amendments must be in the same language as the international application if that language is English or French; otherwise, it must be in English or French, at the choice of the applicant.

Consequence if a demand for international preliminary examination has already been filed?

If, at the time of filing any amendments under Article 19, a demand for international preliminary examination has already been submitted, the applicant must preferably, at the same time of filing the amendments with the International Bureau, also file a copy of such amendments with the International Preliminary Examining Authority (see Rule 62.2(a), first sentence).

Consequence with regard to translation of the international application for entry into the national phase?

The applicant's attention is drawn to the fact that, where upon entry into the national phase, a translation of the claims as amended under Article 19 may have to be furnished to the designated/elected Offices, instead of, or in addition to, the translation of the claims as filed.

For further details on the requirements of each designated/elected Office, see Volume II of the PCT Applicant's Guide.
